WEIGHTY BODIES MOVE SLOWLY.

SONEIL.
About a year ago, just after the children in the First Primary had taken their seats, a large portion of the plastering of the ceiling fell, striking the heads of several children and making one think pandemonium was let loose. The committee, who has such matters in charge was invited to inspect the ceiling and found three equally dangerous. They decided to have the three ceilings plastered during the Christmas vacation. When the time came, instead of plastering, tin was tacked over the dangerous places. Immediately after the close of school in June, all seats were removed and varnished and the old plaster on the ceiling removed. When it became evident that the work was not going to be done, the seats were taken back and set, preparatory to the opening of school, and to this day the new ceilings have never been put on. One of the most important phases of school life is to cultivate a taste for the beautiful. Beautiful pictures and statuary on the side walls do not correspond well with a roughly lathed ceiling, which from time to time sheds minute particles of lime. Readers do such matters need attention?

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE FIGURES.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 16.—State Supt. C. P. Cary has discovered that there has been a falling off in school attendance this year of 10,255. The usual annual increase has been about 7,000. The superintendent's force is unable to account for the falling off unless it be that a more complete census has been taken this year. The falling off is chiefly of pupils between the ages of 7 and 14 years. The figures are taken from a forthcoming report of the superintendent which shows there are 763,435 persons of school age with 690,535 actually attending school. In cities 91 per cent of the children obey the compulsory education law and 70 per cent in the country. There are 270 free high schools in the state and 129 graded schools. Nine male teachers and thirty-five females get less than $20 a month.

WHERE PRINTERS ARE SCARCE.

The Ohio Penitentiary News, for many years a famous and flourishing daily paper published by convicts, has suspended publication, for the very good reason that there is not left in that big penal institution a single man who can handle type. There is not a printer in the Ohio penitentiary. Bankers are there in plenty. More than twenty are there, and more are on the way. Several credit banks might be operated, with men to spare. Enough lawyers are there to take care of an enormous amount of legal business. Doctors, brokers and other "eminent respectable" citizens are not lacking. Business men, farmers, brokers and representatives of almost every other department of commercial activity are common there. But there is not one printer. Indeed the percentage of real working men in that institution, as in similar institutions in other states, is small. There are enough of those who may call themselves working men, but who work only at intervals to postpone starvation, but such are not entitled to call themselves work ing men. And the printers are proud of their scarcity in penal institutions where the more pretentious pursuits are so largely represented.—Superior Telegram.

LETTER TO G. P. ALEXANDER, Rhinelander, Wis.

Dear Sir: Let's talk it right out before folks; there's nothing to hide in your business or ours; if there is, we'd better hide ourselves. We are in trade to make money; so are you. We make it by saving our customers' money; so do you. Our object, in trade, is to save your customers' money from rotting and rust and steel and tin from rusting; yours the same. We work for thousands of property owners; you for a few. We can do some things that you can't do; we have the facilities. You can do some things that we can't; you are there. Let us work together; be faithful to one another. We can serve our customers better by working together and being faithful to one another. Your dollar, put into our palm, will palm more feet than in any other way; and the palm will last longer. This saves you money, and saves your customers' money. That's all there is in our whole business. Yours truly, F. W. DEVOE & Co. New York and Chicago P. S. Nichols Hardware Co. sells our palm.

In appearance only, a manifestation of local feeling, the exclusion of Japanese children from the public school of San Francisco carries a profound and minatory significance to the student of immigration. Once every ten days a Pacific mail steamer lands, upon our western coast from 500 to 1500 Japanese coolies. Unchecked, this will soon mean a Japanese labor problem far more formidable than the Chinese question ever was. Nor can the United States dispose of it as cavalierly as in the case of the Chinese invaders. Flushed with the greatest national victory of modern times, the little island empire is in no meek mood. Her far seeing statesmen have long foreseen a crisis on this continent, resulting from the overbid of her crowded millions. The intense public interest in Japan over the present ugly symptoms and the swift governmental action in the withdrawal of the calet Kitaraki from Annapolis, indicate too plainly that this or similar indication of American dislike was expected, and even awaited, across the Pacific. Arbitrary exclusion of the Yankers of the East is to be considered only with one weight given to the probability of war. We must regard Japan as we should Germany or Great Britain with added incentive to caution that our principal possessions lie at her door. The time is coming when statesmanship and patience alike may well be taxed to the utmost to find a peaceful solution of the difficulty. Highway's.

ROYAL Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Healthful cream of tartar, derived solely from grapes, refined to absolute purity, is the active principle of every pound of Royal Baking Powder.

Hence it is that Royal Baking Powder renders the food remarkable both for its fine flavor and healthfulness.

No alum, no phosphate—which are the principal elements of the so-called cheap baking powders—and which are derived from bones, rock and sulphuric acid.

THE GREAT SANDTOWN TURKEY THEFT

A Story of a Mean Man and a Mean Deed That Was Its Own Reward.

Noah Wamskittle was a mean man; one of those mean people who hate to see others prosper, even though it does not interfere with them at all. He lived in Sandtown and raised turkeys, like everybody else. He earned a lot of money, because he fattened his turkeys well. It was his only generous deed, for he begrudged even the food that he gave himself, and as for others! Well, Deacon Vandertassel once said that Noah Wamskittle was so mean that he would walk three miles to borrow a match rather than use one of his own to light his fire in the morning.

Noah Wamskittle did not like Deacon Vandertassel at all, and he liked him even less after he heard this. So some days before Thanksgiving day, he went to a poor man in Sandtown and said to him:

"You know that we will all have to ship our turkeys tomorrow. Now, you have only 50 and if you do not get a good price for them you will be hard pressed for money this winter. Well, I know a way to make the price higher for you. If you will go to Deacon Vandertassel's place with

Noah looked through the underbrush, but he could see nothing except a black mass of something in the darkness.

"Those are the barns," said Bill. "Here, take this saw and saw holes into the walls there and I will creep around the other way and scare the turkeys so they will come out."

Noah, madder and meaner than ever, worked hard and sawed big holes, out of which the turkeys scuttled. Then, as Bill scared them up, they flew into the woods until the whole big flock had vanished.

As soon as the last one had gone, poor but honest Bill seized Noah and said: "We must hurry back and we must go the same way we came."

"Oh, dear, oh, dear," groaned Noah. But he followed, and once more he was dragged through mudholes and creeks and over stumps and rocks until his shirt and nose were skinned and every part of him was sore.

At last they emerged on a road and in a few moments they were at Noah's front gate and the mean man hurried to bed. The next morning he could hardly

THE DAY WE GIVE THANKS.

When Turkey Reigns as Royal Sacrifice.

In Antiquity and American Lineage the Bird Takes Precedence in Western Continent.

When Thanksgiving day comes and families gather around the feast of which the turkey reigns as royal sacrifice, it is the hour to win opinion regarding the American national bird.

Long has the eagle soared and screamed and flapped its wings, but no day of regard has been put in its honor in the calendar.

When it comes to antiquity and a true American lineage the turkey takes precedence. Patriotic societies are finding this out, and committees are considering the advisability of making a place for the bird among national emblems. The eagle is a cosmopolitan, the bird of Jove; the turkey—genus meleagris—belongs to the western continent.

The sacrifice on the altar of thanksgiving is a species distinct from winged and feathered fowl of a distant relationship found in Europe.

The American turkey was among the strange birds discovered by the Spaniards when they invaded Mexico. Oviedo describes it about 1527 as domesticated among the Christianized Indians of New Spain (Mexico), and being the bird reserved for festivals.

Gay describes the gallinazo sylvestris—the wild turkey of New England—as the wonder of the pilgrim fathers, and from all this data it will be seen that the turkey has a claim to national tribute.

Virginia and Missouri historians write of turkey fowls as peculiar to their wooded hills, but Rhode Island has laid an official claim to the best brood stock that goes abroad. Little Rhode bases its traditions on the customs of the Narragansett Indians, a tribe which once ruled the entire New England area, but became extinct during King Philip's war.

The Narragansett treasured the turkey as a sacred bird after their days the Niantics took the matter up both for the cause of religion and for the comfort of their stomachs and thus preserved the species from extinction and brought the Rhode Island fame high on the merits that cater to feasts and festivals.

The Rhode Island turkey lives in the hills, feasts on insects and herbs best calculated to make it delectable to epicures and has become desired from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The white turkey comes from the confines of the state and for some years the presidential Thanksgiving dinner has been presided over by an immense bird of the New England stock.

As the Indian and the native customs even of Mistress Anne Hutchinson and Roger Williams are forgotten by latter day Rhode Island sons and daughters, so the turkey of that peculiar breed is passing away. Reports from the state agricultural stations give dire statistics of fatal disease among the turkeys and the vanishing from the land.

In this year Missouri, Indiana and Wisconsin are banner turkey states. The recent timber and rough ground are good roving places, and the deadly microbe has not found its way to slaughter the innocents.

White with iridescent feathers, bronze reflecting the shades of their distant relatives the peafowls, dark hues with rainbow tints and brilliant red dew laps and head ornaments, strutting along the roads in dignified flocks, perching gracefully on fence rails and sounding the piercing call—thus they have been seen in any country byway before the November knell was sounded.

Thanksgiving Day the Oldest of Our Holidays.

First Enjoined as Religious as Well as Civic Obligation, the Spirit of the Season Remains.

It is a season of gladness traditions. Far away as are our lives from those of the little band of colonists of Massachusetts Bay who reverently established a day of thanksgiving for mercies which to us seem no more than the commonplace of a meagre survival, the spirit of the occasion survives.

Through all the vicissitudes of our national development, Thanksgiving day has been preserved as peculiarly the New England memorial. For generations it had a sectional observance and a limited significance. It was not until the white heat of the civil war fused our people of all sections into a nation homogeneous, that the New England Thanksgiving was made that of the whole country.

Since the first proclamation by the president, calling for the observance of a day of thanks for the preservation of the union of the states, the custom has been maintained; the generation of to-day knows it in this character alone.

This is the oldest of our holidays. In the early times of sectarian intolerance, when church and state were joined in the rule of Massachusetts, there was no Christmas under the law. Observance of the natal day of the Prince of Peace was discouraged, if not absolutely prohibited, by harsh enactments. But the recognition of the day of thanksgiving was enjoined as a religious as well as a civic obligation.

All this is changed in the growth of our people, our commonwealth, our nation, to the stature which we see today. Our whole people unite in the giving of thanks; and if the religious element is given less prominence in the forms with which the day is observed, in the hearts of all there is a no less reverent gratitude for the benefactions with which the power which rules the universe has crowned the life of people and of individuals in this happy age.

We must be glad, every one of us that we live today. The condition of humanity is not perfect; there are cruel exceptions to universal human felicity; but the advance has not only been great but steady and full of marvelous promise for the race. And as for the immediate present, we have only to compare existing conditions of physical comfort, of intellectual improvement, of moral and social uplift, with those enjoyed by our predecessors, to feel a wave of congratulatory surge over our hearts.

Personally, many of us may feel that fortune, or providence, has dealt harshly with us during the past year. There have been disappointments, perhaps grievous afflictions, whose pain is not yet dulled. Let such summon up the resources of the faith that sustained the men of the first Thanksgiving days, who felt as well as believed that "whom the Lord loveth, them he chasteneth," and let all look forward straight into the future where the sun shines with a glory and a gracious warmth unknown to the race of mankind at any period before this favored century.

Johnny's Good Time.

"Well, Johnny, did you have a good time Thanksgiving?"

"A good time? Well, I should think I did. Ma had to sit up with me for the next three nights."

For All Our Blessings Let Us Sing Praise!

Past, Present and Future, Beyond Enumeration, Have Been the Mercies Extended.

On the face of the earth there is not a people—whether they be Christian or Pagan, whether they be Gentile or Jew, whether they be Protestant or Catholic—whether they be white, black, yellow or red—who have greater cause for thanksgiving than the millions who are gathered and sheltered beneath the hospitable and protecting folds of the Stars and Stripes.

For, no matter how far we may fall short of the highest ideals in government, here, more than in any other land upon God's footstool, is there freedom of mind, freedom of conscience, freedom of action—here, more than in any other land, are opportunities within the reach of all, is success in life the reward of individual effort, is station in life dependent upon personal merit, are men men.

We are a powerful people, we are a prosperous people, we are a happy people. The blessings we have enjoyed in the past, the blessings we are enjoying in the present, the blessings we have reason to hope to enjoy in the future—the blessings which our blessings are diffusing among humanity everywhere—are beyond enumeration.

Surely, not since the royal psalmist laid down his harp in Israel have there been a people who could with greater cause and better grace than we take up and swell anew his psalm of thanksgiving.

Praise ye the Lord. Praise God in his sanctuary; praise him in the firmament of his power.

Praise him for his mighty acts; praise him according to his excellent greatness. Praise him with the sound of the trumpet; praise him with the psalmtery and harp.

Praise him with the timbrel and dance; praise him with stringed instruments and organs.

Praise him upon the loud symbols; praise him upon the high sounding cymbals.

Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

Winter Street Suits.

The costume at the left is of dark violet cloth. The skirt is composed of alternating wide and narrow breadths, the latter ornamented toward the bottom with violet buttons and rows of stitching, below which they form plaits. The front breadth forms an inverted plait or two box plaits. The empire jacket has a large shoulder collar, or pelerine, bordered with stitching and ornamented with buttons. Larger buttons, like those on the skirt, ornament the front of the jacket. The collar is of cloth and velvet, the cloth part, also the pockets and cuffs are embroidered with soutache. The other costume is of gray plaid wool. The short skirt is made with stitched plaits at the sides and is encircled at the bottom with two bias bands of the material. The blouse is made with plaits and the collar is of blue velvet, the ends passing through slits cut in the box plait; the neck of the blouse is also trimmed with galloon. The sleeves are finished with cuffs trimmed to correspond. The skirt is of the blue velvet.

Thanksgiving Dinner for Plain Family.

Grandmother Outlines Feast Worthy of the Day in Whose Honor It Will Be Served.

For the benefit of the young people of the family and as a study of the times that are past, living only in the memory of our grandparents, a house mother who has been interested in reviewing history with the school girls in her immediate circle has planned this dinner to be served on Thanksgiving day.

A beloved grandmother outlined this feast, the mother assisted by "the girls" carried out the details. A sure-enough country turkey was ordered in the summer from a man who promised to give this particular bird extra care. It is to be stuffed with oysters, chestnuts and a chain of tiny sausage put around the neck. The table is to have a centerpiece of fall vegetables, with candles in brass holders and unshaded. First clam broth is to be served, then creamed fish in clam shells baked in the shell after the manner of the Pilgrim fathers; the turkey follows with squash, Irish and sweet potatoes, celery, cranberry jelly, Damson plum preserves, cucumber pickles, thin slices of brown and white bread, coffee with the meal and all the vegetables placed on the table at once. No place cards and no salad, the dessert is to be pumpkin and apple pie, cheese, fruit, nuts and raisins with cider.

If grandmother's health permits she is going to make her delicious pound cake for which she was famous 50 years ago. This repast is to be strictly "en-familie"; the maid is to have the day, and "the girls" are going to dress in costumes such as were in vogue 60 years ago. Grandmother is renewing her youth, and everyone is going to have a "beautiful" time.

A Quilting Bee for Thanksgiving. There is to be no football game this year, and a lot of young misses were considering how best to spend the holiday afternoon when a thoughtful mother stepped in and sent these deliciously mysterious invitations:

"Will Mistress Penelope Brown appear at the domicile of Mistress Patience Jones at early candle light on the Thanks day afternoon? Will she please attire her dainty form in sober garb, with kerchief and cap of white? Will she also place her thimble and a pair of scissors in her reticule?"

The village youth will assemble with their lanterns to see that each maiden is returned to her home in safety.

Unknown to the girls, the hostess has arranged with each special again to present herself at the hour of eight in the costume of colonial cavalier, with a lantern. In the meantime the girls have had a fine time making downy comforts out of silk and lace and chesecloth for the children's ward of a hospital. After the arrival of the men there is to be a chafing dish supper served, each girl preparing a dish assisted by her particular chef. Here is what they are to have: Creamed oysters, cheese sandwiches, fruit salad in chrysanthemum cases, individual mince pies, hot spiced cider, nuts and fruit.

Exactly at ten each man is to get and light his lantern and escort "Miss Penelope," or whoever it may be, to her "domicile."

Menagerie.

I heard a party of young people and some grown ups having the most hilarious time the other night, finally my curiosity got the best of me, and I went to see what could be the occasion of such spontaneous merriment and found they were playing "Animalie," which certainly was a new one to me. Each person was given the name of an animal, a circle was formed with a person in the middle, who was "it."

he called the name of the animal a person represented three times, and if the one called did not respond by saying the name once, he or she had to take the middle and catch the next victim. It sounds simple, but just try it. Here is a list of the animals we had in our "show":

Horse, cat, bear, donkey, bison, muskrat, leopard, camel, elephant, alligator, snake, pig, mouse, opossum, rhinoceros, hippopotamus, sheep, tiger, monkey, frog, toad, squirrel.

MADAME MERL

Touches of Gold and Silver. Little touches of gold and silver—another marked feature of new styles—are on many costumes. But, like the prettiest of the party dresses, Paris has ever sent over, both gold and silver are used with the lightest possible touch; the suggestion of metal must be there, but the hard, bright look must be kept away from. Often the only touch of metal is in the rims of buttons. This quieter use of gold and silver is in keeping with the tendency toward more sober effects.

Velvet and Broadcloth. Velvet and broadcloth, broadcloth and velvet—it's a toss-up which you get, if it's for a "going-away" suit or one equally important. Whichever it is, it is moderately certain to be braided or strapped—or both, and to be finished off with some of the interesting buttons which are so marked a feature of this year's suits.

The Side of Gentleness. If you would fall into any extreme, let it be on the side of gentleness—the human mind is so constructed that it resists vigor and yields to softness.—St. Francis de Sales.

Of Velvet and Cloth.

Pretty frock for little girl from 12 to 14 years old. The skirt is of blue and white checked velvet, made with plaits, which are stitched down as far as the row of stitching which encircles the bottom.

The blouse is of light blue cloth covered with a sort of triple bertha, the front edge finished with checked velvet like the skirt. The rest of the cloth, ornamented with knots of ribbon to match and the little tucked gumples, or chemisette, is of white linen.

The short puffed sleeves are of lace with the blue ribbon, which is knotted on the outside. The belt is of soft leather.

INSOMNIA CURED

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored Wrecked Nerves to Normal Condition and Good Health Followed.

The sufferer from sleeplessness too often resorts to habit-forming drugs in order to secure the coveted rest. But sleep obtained by the use of opiates is not refreshing and the benefit is but temporary at best.

Mrs. H. A. Fletcher, of 59 Budget street, Manchester, N. H., is living evidence of the truth of this statement. She says: "I received a shock of an apoplectic character. It was so severe that the sight of my right eye was affected, causing me to see objects double. I was confined to my bed about four weeks, at one time being told by the doctor that I could not get well. When I could leave my bed I was in such a nervous state that I could not sleep at night. I would get up and sit on a chair until completely tired out and then go back to bed and sleep from exhaustion."

"I had been under the doctor's care for six weeks when my sister, Mrs. Loveland, of Everett, persuaded me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I began taking the pills with the result that I soon experienced relief. One night soon after taking them I lay awake only a short time and the next night I rested well. From that time I slept well every night and soon got well and strong. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a number of times, and my niece has taken them for weak nerves and poor blood and found them very beneficial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured many severe nervous troubles, headache, neuralgia and sciatica as well as diseases of the blood such as anæmia, rheumatism, pale and sallow complexion and many forms of weakness. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or they will be sent by mail postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box, six boxes for $3.00, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

A Wonderful Discovery

It has been the aim of scientists for years to find some liquid preparation which would possess anodyne, astringent and antiseptic properties and yet be of such a consistency that it would penetrate, first, through the skin, then through the muscles and finally to the very bones, exerting on its way down, healing and pain destroying properties.

Max R. Zaegel, a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, established at Sheboygan, Wis., as a chemist for the last 23 years, has discovered this long sought secret.

It consists of a mixture of vegetable and mineral oils forming an amber colored liquid of pleasant odor and taste, which, when used as directed, restores vitality and strength and gives prompt relief to pain.

Applied to cuts, sores, burns and bruises it heals, as owing to its antiseptic properties, no pus or matter can form in any wound where Z. M. O. is used.

If you have catarrh, rheumatism, piles, or pain back, write Mr. Zaegel and he will be pleased to mail you a sample bottle of Z. M. O. free.

Address your letter to M. R. Zaegel & Co., chemists, 111 Main St., Sheboygan, Wis.

It is free now, so do not fail to write to-day, stating the nature of your complaint.

A DAY OF DEDICATION.

When the early Americans observed Thanksgiving day they had a solemn sense of obligation for the gifts for which they returned thanks. There was a yearning struggle for life. If the crops were full and if the swarms of Indian raids and disease had been withheld, they owed to the mercy of God the primal boon—life itself.

A terrible sense of the afflictions and uncertainties of existence made their thanksgiving for a year of health and bare sufficiency a passionate, solemn and immediate gratitude, like that of the Jews for their deliverance out of the wilderness.

In our days of prosperity, when no one season more than another brings home to us the special mercies of God, the gratitude which the day summons us to express is vainer than that of our early forefathers, and the festival is in danger of becoming merely formal, a traditional observance without feeling.

But although we have lost in our easier life the sharp pathos of this day of prayer as the Puritans knew it, we have by national growth extended its meaning and preserved much of its depth.

The American who asks, "What have I to be thankful for?" thinking of some special material thing, misses the meaning of the day. The thing to be thankful for is that we are citizens of a great nation, which God has prospered exceedingly. This day celebrates our national gratitude to God—the universal idea, as all as the Hebrew nation, that the state depends on God.

Many nations have festivals of rejoicing and thanksgiving. Our festival is peculiar to this country, in the universality of its observance by all kinds of Americans, and in the fact that it was not given to the people as a church tradition, but that the people created a religious day and gave it to the churches.

It is the day when the nation as a whole dedicates itself to God—Youth's Companion.

Patrons will notice the curfew ordinance on the last page of this paper, but if the executive officers of the City fail to comply with the requirements, it is worse than nothing. It is a most demoralizing effect to pass laws and then allow them to be violated.

Evidently Mayor Schultz and "Boss" Ruef misconstrued the motive that prompted people from all over the U. S. to send supplies to the stricken people of San Francisco. They must have considered it as individual relief for their own private means. To out-let it looks like taking bread from the mouth of babies.

The suspension of the Rev. Dr. Cressy of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, on account of Lortical teachings is calling forth much comment. Some years ago such things were more common, but now a days it seems to need something out of the ordinary to cause expulsion from the church. For a year his sermons have been attracting the notice of Eastern Episcopal Clergymen and last April charges were made against him, but he was upheld by his congregation, by whom, he is greatly beloved on account of his philanthropy and services to the poor and needy, as well as for his broad-mindedness. Dr. Cressy is given thirty days to recant and conform to the doctrines and special creeds of the church otherwise, he will suffer expulsion by the ecclesiastical court of review of the Episcopal Church. He has announced that he will make public his belief later.

Of all the exchanges which come to our desk, few can compare with the Superior Telegram. It is a city paper in every sense of the word. Like the big city papers it has the latest news and we are often pleased to quote from its editorial columns. From its location in the State and its excellence as a paper its circulation ought to be wide spread throughout the Northern part of the State. Success to The Telegram. We are always glad to speak a good word for a good paper.

ANOTHER BIG FRAUD BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Three men employed in the Shelby Steel Co. at Greenville, are indicted by the Grand Jury, after a three days' investigation, for furnishing defective boiler tubes for the U. S. Navy. One of the conspirators got frightened at the Gov't investigations and hoped to save himself by confessing. If the charges are proved, it means that 10,000 defective tubes have been furnished our government at a cost of more than $100,000. It means that seven battleships and two armored cruisers, the best in our navy, have defective boiler tubes and that under full steam the hundreds of officers and men are in danger of their lives. It means more, viz: that the government inspectors are either grossly negligent or criminally careless. We hope this matter will not be hushed up as some have been in the past. A question of life and millions and millions of dollars are at stake.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The hunting fever attacked three of our small boys this last week. They are modest about telling what they shot.

Prof. Collins has been absent from school for the past two days on account of illness.

It was announced last week that Raymond Brown was the only High School student to receive special merit for work done last month. This was an error, for two others, Anna Hansen and Winnie Vesley deserved the same credit. We have at least one senior who will not be outdone by a freshman.

Miss Eudora Cook and Miss Johnson have also been absent from school on account of illness.

The library class have some of their work of the last month displayed at the library.

Every Thursday for morning exercise, news items are given by various students.

The High School girls are very enthusiastic about basketball. They are very anxious to form a high school team. The question which confronts them is this, "Where may we practice?" Will some one answer this question?

Rev. A. G. Wilson visited the High School last Tuesday.

SUCCESSFUL DEER HUNTER.

On Monday morning one of the chief attractions at the Star Market was two large deer, killed by Mr. Will Morgan and his employee, Mr. Green. One of the deer when dressed weighed over 200 pounds. Had it not been for another hunter on the trail they might have had two more, as they had already shot one, but feared to take the chance of receiving a stray bullet from the other hunter. These two deer were among the first to be brought into the City. The New North has reason to be thankful that Mr. Morgan secured the deer.

FIGHT ON OIL TRUST.

The United States government made the initial move to dissolve the Standard Oil monopoly by filing in the United States district court in St. Louis a petition in equity against the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and its 70 constituent corporations and partnerships, and seven defendants, including John D. Rockefeller and William Rockefeller, asking that the combination be declared unlawful and in the future enjoined from entering into any contract or combination in restraint of trade.

The president promised to look into this matter. He stayed on the steam shovel about 20 minutes.

URGES CONGRESS TO AID

National Lawmakers Will Be Asked to

Gulf of Mexico.

St. Louis.—The Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterways association became a fact Friday when the plan for permanent organization and the report of the nominating committee were adopted at the final session of the convention of the provisional association, organized by Congressman Lorimer, of Chicago, and several of his congressional associates, which has been in session at the Odéon for two days.

Following is the main portion of the address adopted by the convention:

"The proposed deep waterway is to extend from the Chicago drainage canal through the valleys of the Des Moines and Illinois rivers to the Mississippi river at Grafton, Ill., and thence down the Mississippi to St. Louis, and is to have a minimum depth of 11 feet throughout. We recommend that for the purpose of meeting the probable future needs of navigation that the minimum depth over the entire route of the locks should be 21 feet in the initial construction.

"The excessive cost of the project, as shown by the engineers' estimates, was due mainly to the existence of the prominent barrier between the great lakes and the Mississippi valley.

"The chief obstacle to the prosecution of this project has been removed by the drainage canal.

"According to the estimates based upon recent surveys by the United States engineers, the work remaining to be done in order to complete the deep waterway channel to St. Louis will cost $21,000,000.

"Following present transportation facilities of the United States to be inadequate and wholly unsatisfactory, we favor appropriations by the congress of the United States in sufficient amounts to create such additional transportation facilities as the growing needs of the nation demand and to the end that such appropriations shall be secured, this association recommends to its representatives in congress diligent, assiduous and untiring efforts to secure the necessary means with which to develop a deep waterway."

State Capital Notes

Weekly Budget Gathered by Our Special Correspondent at Madison.

Madison.—With the elections over interest in legislative matters centers chiefly about the choice of officials for the two houses. So far gossip has concerned itself chiefly with the probable make-up of the staff of the assembly.

Few active candidates have yet appeared for the chief clerkship of the senate to succeed Leo K. Eaton, of Oshkosh. Mr. Eaton has received the appointment as condemnation attorney for the Wisconsin Central road. Another candidate mentioned about the capital is Secretary of State Walter L. Houser, who retires from his present office New Year's day. Mr. Houser has not announced his candidacy, in fact, it is not known that he will be a candidate, but his name is persistently mentioned in connection with the place. He has filled it before. Others who are tentative candidates, at least, are A. R. Emerson, of Darlington; P. E. Andrews, editor of the Milwaukee Advocate, Chippewa county, and C. W. Rhodes, a Madison newspaper man, all of whom have had experience in clerical positions during past sessions.

Former State Senator R. C. Falconer, of Camp Douglas, is an avowed candidate for sergeant-at-arms of the senate and Walter Egan, of Superior, is said to have the backing of Secretary Hudson for the same place.

The Republican members of the assembly may face a three-cornered speaker contest. L. H. Bancroft, assemblyman elected from Richland Center, it is rumored may be a candidate for speaker of the assembly. There are rumors that C. E. Estabrooke, of Milwaukee, may also be a candidate for the place, and E. W. Le Roy and H. L. Ekern are already practically active candidates for the speakership.

Duncan McGregor, of Waterville, has been urged to be a candidate, but will not seek the place though he would accept it if elected.

For the chief clerkship of the assembly three names have been mentioned, those of L. B. Nagler, of Hudson, C. H. Shaffer, of Madison, and Assemblyman Roy C. Smelter, now a resident of Mineral Point.

Nicholas Streveler, of Marshfield, is understood, can have the place of sergeant-at-arms of the assembly again if he desires it.

Zeno M. Host, honored.

Zeno M. Host, who has been appointed general manager of the insurance department of the Knights of Pythias, is widely known in insurance circles as the insurance commissioner of the state of Wisconsin. Before assuming the office he had been prominent in politics and had been an active member of fraternal orders. Mr. Host first rose to fame in the insurance world because of his attack on the dividend system of the Equitable, which resulted in the Wisconsin legislature passing a law requiring the appointment of dividends once in five years. He was born in Lyons, Wis., in 1860, and began life at Milwaukee as a bookkeeper.

Big Inheritance Tax Paid.

According to the biennial report of the secretary of state now in course of preparation the state has received $239,225.19 in inheritance taxes since the law went into effect two years ago. Of this amount $267,911.62 has been received this year. The largest amount paid was by the Schandene estate of Milwaukee, $98,654.56.

Babcock Beaten by 1,011.

According to the official election returns received from the Third congressional district by the secretary of state Congressman J. W. Babcock was defeated by James W. Murphy by a plurality of 1,011. Babcock's vote was 12,690, against Murphy's 14,701. Herbert J. Noyes, prohibition candidate, received 934 votes.

Wisconsin Teachers' Association.

The programme for the fifty-fourth annual meeting of the Wisconsin Teachers' association in Milwaukee has been issued and provides for a number of interesting features and addresses during the convention from December 27 to 29. The main session will be devoted to a discussion of general topics of education by prominent educators of Wisconsin and adjoining states. Besides men who have gained prominence along educational lines outside this state, Wisconsin educators are a feature of the programme.

Dr. Van Hise will Preside.

President Charles R. Van Hise, of the University of Wisconsin, has gone to Baton Rouge, La., to attend a meeting of the National association of agricultural college experiment stations, of which he is president, and the meeting of the National Association of State Universities, of which he is vice president. From Baton Rouge he will go to Washington to visit the United States geological survey, the department of agriculture, and other interests with which the university is identified.

Report on Insane Asylum.

An average number of 224 patients at the asylum for chronic insane have been kept at the institution at Watertown at a cost of 93 1/2 cents each a week during the year. The maintenance of the institution cost the county of Milwaukee $11,629.60. The asylum received aid from the state at the rate of $120 per capita, making the total amount due from the state $17,324.24. The total current expenditures for the year were $29,953.84 and the amount expended for permanent improvements is $4,927.91.

Report of State Board of Health.

According to the quarterly report of the state board of health just issued under the direction of Dr. C. A. Harper, 192 cases of tuberculosis were reported to that office for the months of July, August and September. "This is considerably less than the number that was reported for the second quarter," says the report, "and is simply indicative of laxity on the part of the attending physicians to report the cases to the local health officer. One hundred and fifteen deaths were reported from the disease, which is also considerably less than the number reported for the previous quarter. "Of the total number of cases reported, 177 were from Milwaukee. If the returns are correct only 14 new cases were discovered during this period of time in other parts of the state. As stated in our last quarterly bulletin, physicians outside of the city of Milwaukee would do well to emulate the practice of the Milwaukee fraternity. During the months of July, August and September, 202 cases of diphtheria were reported with 17 deaths. This gives a fatality rate of eight per cent, which is considerably less than that recorded for the months of April, May and June. That this disease should be prevalent during the summer, and at a time when the schools are not in session, is inexcusable. Seventy-four cases of scarlet fever with two deaths were reported for the quarter just closed. Our records show that 35 places have been afflicted with typhoid fever in a more or less epidemic form. One hundred and eighty-nine cases with 19 deaths were reported. The fatality rate of ten per cent is considerably less than for the second quarter. The popular, yet erroneous, belief in the advisability of having measles while young should be discouraged wherever found. Whooping cough is simply a disease of early childhood and as great precaution should be taken against contracting this disease during the first two or three years of life as would be exercised in protecting the little ones from diphtheria or scarlet fever. The records show that nearly all deaths from whooping cough are under two years of age. Measles, undoubtedly, plays a greater role in the death rate of the state than the face of the records show. Smallpox appears to be on the decline, only 132 cases were reported with two deaths. The seasonal variation of the disease no doubt plays an important part in this record. For the months of April, May and June there were reported to this office from 197 cities of the second, third and fourth classes 1,990 deaths. For the preceding quarter reports were received from only 55 cities. During the fourth quarter of last year 37 cities failed to make this report. Of the total deaths reported, 1,103 were males, 875 females, and 22 with no sex given. This gives a male excess of 228. Nine hundred and ninety-three were married. Two hundred and seventy deaths were reported from heart disease and dropsy; 118 were from diseases of the nervous system; 119 were caused by pulmonary tuberculosis; 61 were due to other tubercular diseases; 199 resulting from pneumonia; 57 from diarrheal diseases; 59 from cancer and tumor; 106 from diseases of the urinary system; 17 from diphtheria; 22 from typhoid fever; 17 from whooping cough; five from scarlet fever; 18 from measles; 195 from old age; and 651 from other causes not classified. With an aggregate population in these 170 cities of 224,310 the annual rate is 12.71. As compared with the rate for the fourth quarter of last year of 12.22 and also the rate for the first quarter of this year of 14.22, we find that a much more favorable condition seems to prevail. It is possible that the seasonal variation would account for this change in the mortality rate. Nearly every city in Wisconsin obtaining water supply from one of the great lakes is suffering more or less from the presence of typhoid fever or other intestinal diseases. This fact simply goes to show the dangers

TO FIGHT AID FOR STATE FAIR

Western Wisconsin Objects to State Assistance for the Show.

La Crosse.—Plans to conduct a strenuous fight against the appropriation of any large sum of money by the next legislature for the erection of buildings on the grounds of the Wisconsin Agricultural association at Milwaukee are being talked over by western Wisconsin men who have political standing at Madison. Owing to the fact that the conditions at the state fair grounds are crowded, the construction of larger buildings is necessary, but that the movement to obtain the necessary amount to erect them from the state will be vigorously protested, is being made evident.

A La Crosse member of the legislature is quoted as follows in regard to the movement: "The state fair has come to be almost distinctly a Milwaukee affair. If it is anything more than that, it is an eastern Wisconsin or lake shore fair. Western Wisconsin has little in common with Milwaukee as far as state fairs are concerned. The taxpayers of this section of the state help give the fair annual support, as those in the eastern part of the state aid the west Wisconsin fairs, but there is no reason why the state should build large structures on the Milwaukee fair ground. Any effort to get a large appropriation at the next legislature will be fought strenuously."

"This attitude is not taken by La Crosse alone. All western Wisconsin and northern Wisconsin will stand out against any such plan, and the upstate and west Wisconsin legislators will go armed and with good popular backing against erecting buildings in Milwaukee."

THREE LAKES.

F. S. Campbell made a business trip to Milwaukee last week.

Miss Ida Schoon spent Saturday and Sunday in Monroe.

Dr. H. H. H. LaSalle returned to Rhinelander Thursday from their hunting trip. They were not among the fortunate ones.

The Seven Day Adventists have nearly completed their school building three miles north of town and it will soon be ready for occupancy.
They are to have a church and school building.

F. S. Campbell started his camp
this week with Henry Gagen as foreman.

Miss Lizzie Taylor completed her school in the Clearwater district last week.

WOODRUFF.

D. H. Kahn is taking a vacation this week. Some of the hunters from here were having rather poor success so Mr. Kahn volunteered to show them how it's done.

The slaughter of deer is likely to be greater this year than it has been for some time. It continues for a few years more, those swift footed animals of our American forests will soon be as rare a sight as the buffalo.
Would it not be better to pass a prohibiting the killing of them for several years?

Miss Irene Bollen is again in school after a week's illness.

Do your trading at D. H. Kahn's store. Prompt service and a good grade of goods at right prices are its good points.

William Doolittle is working in the store during D. A. Kahn's absence.

(To be continued next week)

Where are all the people now days?
None were to take a trip out into the woods he would find them scattered in all directions. What is the attraction? One word will explain it all, "Deer"

The North Western gun club secured two fine deer Sunday the first day of the season.

Ed Wood of Milwaukee is hunting with a party from here.

John Jackson seems to be more contented now that he has his family with him.

William Doolittle returned to Woodruff Wednesday morning.

Irene Bollen is on the sick list.

Miss Maybel Markee is to be found behind the counter in Mr. Reed's store now days.

D. A. Kahn was an Ironwood visitor last week.

Mrs. F. J. Knafeld & Co. will be in town with millinery goods Nov. 14, 15, and 16.

Geo. H. Drury, The State School
Inspector visited the Woodruff Schools Tuesday.

The Eagles will give a dance Saturday night. Tickets only $1. Turkey supper free. Every one come and have a good time.

Never Before

Have we been more admirably prepared to cater to the needs of the boys than now.
Is juvenile attire the styles are charming and possess a fashionable refined appearance, which will captivate the fancy of mothers who delight in having their little ones properly attired in well-made seasonable garments.

For those a few years older the
"Improved Viking"
is just what you have been looking for.
They are stylish and made in a thoroughly dependable manner, calculated to withstand the usual wear and tear a boy ordinarily gives his clothes. Worth considering; the guarantee that goes with every garment.

Gary & Danielson

Woodruff was not dead last week
but the reporter was out of sorts.
Already the hunters have begun to return from the woods with several of those swift footed animals which roam the Northern woods.
The deer are plenty this fall. All that is required is the three qualifications of a good hunter, namely a steady hand, a good eye and a good gun.

Upon request of the Hon. Mayor
the following Ordinance is published

Is Time of Peace.

In the first months of the Russian Japan war we had a striking example of the necessity for preparation and the early advantage of those who, so to speak, "have shingled their roofs in dry weather." The virtue of preparations has made history and given to us our greatest men. The individual as well as the nation should be prepared for any emergency. Are you prepared to successfully combat the first cold you take? A cold can be cured much more quickly when treated as soon as it has been contracted and before it has become settled in the system.
Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of cold and it should be kept at hand ready for instant use. For sale by Anderle & Hlman.
